101 Advocacy helps families navigate through the special education process by educating them on their rights, assisting at ARD meetings (in person or phone conference), and reviewing IEPs and evaluation data to ensure decisions are individualized and student driven.

Description

101 Advocacy brings experience from both the education and parent worlds. I am a trained special education professional, holding a masters degree and working in the field for 10 years. I also am the parent of a child served by special education. This combination of experiences brings a unique service to families.
